- “consent” of the data subject means any freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the data subject's wishes by which he or she, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her;
- “controller” means the natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data; where the purposes and means of such processing are determined by European Union or Member State law, the controller or the specific criteria for its nomination may be provided for by European Union or Member State law;
- “processor” means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which processes personal data on behalf of the controller;
- “third party” means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or body other than the data subject, controller, processor and persons who, under the direct authority of the controller or processor, are authorized to process personal data; and
- “supervisory authority” means an independent public authority which is established by a Member State.

4. Personal data we collect regarding you and legal basis for their processing

The use of the Website does not require the provision of personal data on your part. We collect, process and use personal data only if there is a legal basis for doing so, or if you have given your consent for your personal data to be processed for the stated purposes. If you contact us through the Website or register with us or when we already have a contract and are providing services to you then we will have to collect and process some of your personal data which is necessary. We do not collect, process or use sensitive personal data of any kind. The Website contains the following functionalities from which it is possible for UCDN to collect and process your personal data:

4.1. Sending inquiries via “Contact us” contact form or any other form of communication (whether via the Website or sending us an email or letter directly)

When you use the contact form for sending inquiries, or any other form of communication (whether via the Website or sending us an email or letter directly) UCDN collects and processes the following personal data for you, namely: name, last name, e-mail address and any other personal data you have decided to provide us with in your inquiry.

- The legal basis for the processing of your personal data in this case is your explicit, voluntary consent, which we assume you gave, by sending us the inquiry. We need this data in order to be able to differentiate your inquiry from any other inquiry we receive and to be able to respond to you directly.

4.2. Use of registered account via “Login” or “Register” button

You can register for an user account on the Website, via the “Register” button and consequently the provided registration feature and you can login to your existing account using the “Login” button. UCDN shall collect and process the following personal data from you, namely: Username and E-mail address when using these functions. The username in question is chosen by you upon initial registration of your user account. As far as you are customer of UCDN your personal data shall be processed on the basis of the contract that you have with us and for our own legitimate interests as appropriate under the GDPR.

4.3 By being a customer of UCDN whereby we provide services to you, in addition to the personal data identified in clause 4.2 above we will also collect and process the following personal data relating to you for the purposes of performing the services contract with you, for the purposes of complying with any legal obligation that binds us, including but not limited to KYC/AML laws and regulations including tax laws, and where the processing is necessary for the purposes of our legitimate interests:

- Address;
- Full name;
- Company name, if you are an authorized representative of a company,
- contact telephone number
- Bank account information or bank card details or any other form of payment used to make the payment for our services which data may be made available to a third party processing the relevant payment and the data shall only be used for these purposes

5. Purposes for Processing

We will use your personal data for the following purposes:

- For the purposes of sending a reply to the inquiry you have sent us and providing you with support services;
- To administer your registered account if you choose to register and to provide the products and services you have requested from us;
- For the purposes of processing your orders and providing the services to you and performing the contract between you and UCDN;
- For customer management and replying to your enquiries to UCDN;
- To contact you with details of other services we provide, including offers and campaigns only where you have specifically consented to being contacted for these purposes.

To the extent that you have consented to being contacted for marketing purposes, we will use your personal data for the purposes of providing you with email newsletters, surveys, offers, campaigns any other communication for the purposes of advertising and marketing of our services as well as providing you with targeted advertisements on our or third party websites. This may involve the disclosure of some of your personal data to third parties for the purposes of preparing such marketing campaigns and to third party service providers where the targeted advertising is made available on a third party's website. You have the right to revoke consent at any time by contacting us at support@ucdn.com, or by clicking unsubscribe on the email you will receive from us. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes and only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

It should be noted that depending on the reason why the personal data is collected and processed more than one legal basis of processing may apply in each situation.

6. Retention period

UCDN will retain the personal data it processes for you for a term as long as necessary for the respective purpose of processing:

- For the personal data collect through the contact form - for the time necessary to prepare and send a reply to your inquiry and within 1 month of our last correspondence with you unless you become our customer in which case the relevant provisions of the Terms of Service or/ and the respective agreement signed between us shall apply regarding the processing of your personal data;
- For the purpose of sending you marketing communication for presenting and promoting our services – provided you initially consented explicitly to this and as long as you do not object to it or until you have unsubscribed from receiving such communication;
- For the purpose of your registration and creation of user account through “Login” or “Register” button – as agreed in the agreement signed with us or in the Terms of Service, when they are applicable;
- We will also retain your personal data relating to the contract between UCDN and you for the duration of the contract and for as long as is necessary thereafter to comply with legal obligations and applicable laws.

The above mentioned terms shall be applied as far as there are no longer terms are provided by applicable legislation.

7. Non-Provision of Personal Data

The provision of your personal data via the contact and information forms of the Website is entirely voluntary. In case you do not want to provide us your personal data, you will not be able to receive the desired services - we will not be able to reply to your inquiry or administer your registered user account on the Website.

8. Transfer of Personal Data to Third Parties

UCDN being a US incorporated entity is outside of the EEA and it may provide your personal data to the following categories of recipients:

- Affiliate entities, part of the UCDN group for the purposes of administering the services agreement between you and UCDN and for the purposes of providing you with support services and addressing your inquiries;. Some of these entities may be outside of the EEA but in this situation we ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it and that all third parties respect the security of your personal data and treat it in accordance with the law;
- State authorities, institutions and persons, to which we shall be obliged to transfer the personal data by virtue of the law;
- Third parties, to which we assign different services – support of equipment, software and hardware used for the processing of the personal data, marketing services, programming, data hosting etc., and with which we have agreements for confidentiality and protection of personal data. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes and only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

How We Protect and Store Personal Information

We endeavor to protect the security of your personal data. We use a variety of security technologies and procedures to try to protect your personal data from unauthorized access, use, or disclosure. For example, we store the personal data you provide on computer servers with limited access that are located in controlled facilities.

9. Rights of Data Subjects

In connection with the processing of your personal data by UCDN you have the following rights:

(a) right to access – you have the right to confirmation as to whether or not UCDN processes your personal data and, where UCDN does, access to the personal data, together with certain additional information. That additional information includes details of the purposes of the processing, the categories of personal data concerned and the recipients of the personal data. Provided that the rights and freedoms of others are not affected, UCDN will provide you with a copy of its personal data. The first copy will be provided free of charge, but additional copies may be subject to a reasonable fee;

(b) right to rectification – you have the right to have any inaccurate personal data about you rectified and, taking into account the purposes of the processing, to have any incomplete personal data about you completed;

(c) right to erasure – you have the right to the erasure of your personal data without undue delay in the following circumstances: 1) the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed; 2) you withdraw your consent to consent-based processing; 3) you object to the processing under certain rules of applicable data protection law; 4) the processing is for direct marketing purposes; and 5) the personal data have been unlawfully processed. However, there are exclusions of the right to erasure. The general exclusions include where processing is necessary: 1) for exercising the right of freedom of expression and information; 2) for compliance with a legal obligation; or 3) for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims;

(d) right to restriction of the processing –

Where we are relying on a legitimate interest and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground. If you lodge an objection, we will no longer process your personal data unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override your interests, rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data, for direct marketing purposes. This also includes profiling in as much is related to direct marketing.

If you object to processing for direct marketing purposes, then we shall stop the processing of your personal data for such purposes.

(e) right to objection to the processing – you have the right to object to UCDN's processing of your personal data on grounds relating to your particular situation, but only to the extent that the legal basis for the processing is that the processing is necessary for one of the following: 1) the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of any official authority vested in Us; or 2) the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by Us or by a third party. If you make such an objection, UCDN will cease to process your personal data unless We can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which have priority over your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing is for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims;

(f) right to data portability – you have the right to receive your personal data from Us in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format;

(g) right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority – if you consider that UCDN's processing of your personal data infringes data protection laws, you have a legal right to lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority of one of the EU Member States, responsible for data protection. You may do so in the EU Member State of your habitual residence, your place of work or the place of the alleged infringement. You may find the contact details of the relevant Member States' supervisory authorities here: http://ec.europa.eu/justice/article-29/structure/data-protection-authorities/index_en.htm; and

(h) right to withdraw the given consent – to the extent that the legal basis for UCDN’s processing of your personal data is consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time. Such withdrawal will not affect the lawfulness of any processing performed before it. You may withdraw your consent by contacting us at the following e-mail address: support@ucdn.com.

You may exercise any of your rights hereunder in relation to the processing of your personal data by written notice to UCDN at the address specified hereinabove or via e-mail at the following e-mail address: support@ucdn.com.

We shall do our best to reply to you without undue delay.
